

Theme 3: Tourism and Hospitality

Work and Travel (First conditional)

Lesson 3-2
Book pages 36-37

💡 Big idea: Jobs in tourism: hotel managers, chefs, tour guides, travel agents and cabin crew each need special skills. Grammar: the first conditional (If + present, will + verb) for possible future results, with modal verbs.

🎯 I will learn:

- Read about jobs in tourism and their skills
- Match jobs with responsibilities
- Form the first conditional
- Use modal verbs in conditional sentences

📖 Key words

oversee يُشرف على	cabin crew طاقم الطائرة	reservation حجز	organisational skills مهارات تنظيمية
patient صبور	condition شرط	result نتيجة	modal verb فعل مساعد ناقص

Jobs and responsibilities

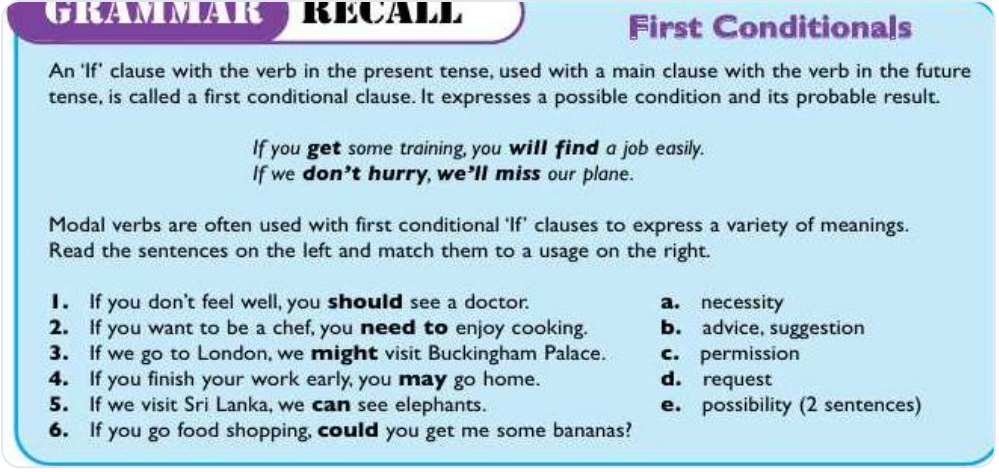

- travel agent: organising trips and holidays
- chef: planning and creating menus
- cabin crew: taking care of passenger safety
- tour guide: showing people interesting places
- hotel manager: making sure a hotel runs smoothly

First conditional

- If + present simple, will + base verb
- If you get some training, you will find a job easily.
- If we don't hurry, we'll miss our plane.
- It expresses a possible condition and its probable result

Modals in first conditional

- should = advice: If you don't feel well, you should see a doctor.
- need to = necessity
- might / can = possibility
- may = permission
- could = request: If you go shopping, could you get me some bananas?

GRAMMAR RECALL

First Conditionals

An 'If' clause with the verb in the present tense, used with a main clause with the verb in the future tense, is called a first conditional clause. It expresses a possible condition and its probable result.

If you get some training, you will find a job easily.
If we don't hurry, we'll miss our plane.

Modal verbs are often used with first conditional 'If' clauses to express a variety of meanings. Read the sentences on the left and match them to a usage on the right.

1.	If you don't feel well, you should see a doctor.	a.	necessity
2.	If you want to be a chef, you need to enjoy cooking.	b.	advice, suggestion
3.	If we go to London, we might visit Buckingham Palace.	c.	permission
4.	If you finish your work early, you may go home.	d.	request
5.	If we visit Sri Lanka, we can see elephants.	e.	possibility (2 sentences)
6.	If you go food shopping, could you get me some bananas?

Grammar Recall: first conditionals (p.37)

✏️ Examples

Choose: If I (get / will get) good marks, I (am / will be) happy.

Answer: get ... will be

Give advice: If you want to be a chef, you ___ enjoy cooking.

Answer: need to ⭐ Remember

- Never use 'will' in the 'if' clause: If it rains, we will stay home.

⚠️ Watch out

- ✗ If you will visit Oman, you will love it. ✓ If you visit Oman, you will love it.

🧩 Activity: Discuss with a partner which tourism job you would most like to do and why, using first conditional sentences.
