

Theme 4: Travel and Transport

Aviation Then and Now (Reading: pronouns)

Lesson 4-1
Book pages 49-51

💡 Big idea: Planes cause air pollution, so airlines are testing biofuels made from plants, algae and used cooking oil. In 2008 Virgin Atlantic flew the first plane partly fuelled by biofuel. We practise reading fluency and identifying what pronouns refer to.

🎯 I will learn:
- Skim an article and choose the best title
- Match words with meanings
- Identify what pronouns refer to
- Give opinions about biofuels

📖 Key words

aviation الطيران	biofuel وقود حيوي	emit يُطلق (غازًا)	conventional تقليدي / عادي
currently حاليًا	derived from مُشتق من	inedible غير صالح للأكل	carbon footprint البصمة الكربونية
congestion ازدحام	ambitious طموح

The article

- Aviation produces 2% of the world's carbon dioxide
- by 2050 it will be 3%
- In February 2008 Virgin Atlantic flew a Boeing 747 from London to Amsterdam using 20% biofuel (coconut and babassu oil)
- In 2011 biofuels were approved
- KLM carried 171 passengers from Amsterdam to Paris
- Biofuels include used cooking oil, inedible corn oil, sugar-based biofuel and algae

Top tip: practise with pronouns

- Pronouns are essential in text cohesion
- After reading, go back and identify what each pronoun refers to
- Example: 'It carried pilots and technicians' – It = the Virgin Atlantic plane

3 Read the text in Activity 2 again, checking any unknown words in your dictionary. Match the words and phrases. Write the matching letters and numbers into your exercise book. Then make up sentences using the words.

a aviation (n)	1 usual, normal
b currently (adv)	2 produced from
c emit (v)	3 cannot be eaten
d conventional (adj)	4 industry of making and flying planes
e inedible (adj)	5 send (a gas) into the air
f derived from (v)	6 at the present time

top tip

Practice with Pronouns

Pronouns are essential in text cohesion. After reading a new text, a useful five-minute activity is to go back through the text, identify the pronouns and check what they refer to. Focusing on pronouns in this way helps to improve reading fluency and comprehension.
