

Unit 3: The future is now

Grammar: Talking about the future

Lesson 3-2
Book pages 40

💡 Big idea: English has several ways to talk about the future: will for predictions and quick decisions, be going to for intentions and predictions from evidence, the present continuous for arrangements, and the present simple for timetables.

🎯 I will learn:

- Choose the right future form
- Use will for predictions, offers and decisions
- Use be going to for plans and evidence
- Use present continuous and present simple for arrangements and schedules

📖 Key words

prediction توقع	intention نية	arrangement موعد مرتب	schedule جدول
evidence دليل	offer عرض	decision قرار

will

- Predictions based on our opinion: I think the way a book is written will change in the future.
- Offers and immediate decisions: Don't worry, I'll lend you some money. It's dark in here. I'll turn the light on.

be going to

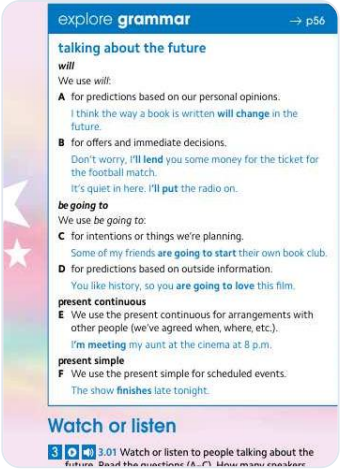

- Intentions and plans: Some of my friends are going to start their own book club.
- Predictions based on what we know now (evidence): You like history, so you are going to love this film.

Present continuous and present simple

- Present continuous for arrangements with other people: I'm meeting my aunt at the cinema at 8 p.m.
- Present simple for scheduled events and timetables: The show finishes late tonight.

A new type of comedian

- On Friday, a comedian starts a tour of Japan (timetable)
- People think the hologram world of entertainment is going to change
- Will we see plays with hologram actors? Some believe there will always be a role for real people
